The terms of my employment included a full pension provided by the City of Detroit, implied or otherwise, based on my years of service & whatever formula was being used at the time I began. Any adjustment to that agreement without my consent or approval, be it direct or through the elected Pension Board, is a violation of my rights.

Additionally, any adjustment that diminishes my potential income upon reaching retirement age must include front-end provisions to my current salary, as I am a current City employee.
